

The summary.

The website is straightly forward navigated. Which means all pages are interconnected. This website will mostly and like fit in phone screens, I have chosen this because most people use phones to access the internet, this website doesn't contain real time flights deals, rather they are just placed there for navigation and website display.

The reason why I lack real-time update is because,

One I got the advert late on 19-june. Secondly I couldn't get APIs to use in my website because they are mostly sold. I pray when I get the job, I can be able to use the resources to provide the intended website. The website also have a certain section, that displays beautiful places, this isn't intended to have anylinks to any travel information but are rather displayed for advertisement purpose so as to provide urge for one to travel.
